Dear Dan:

In accordance with our mutual desires to establish a billing price under our contract, we believe that the contract price, which is currently [redacted], is truly representative of the total costs estimated to be incurred under this contract. We propose, therefore, that the billing price thereunder should be established by dividing the total contract price by the ~~12~~ number of units to be delivered, giving a unit price of [redacted]

50X1

It is understood that we will exercise all possible caution so that the total amount of money received from you for advance payments, progress payments and billings for deliveries will not exceed the amount which we expect to receive under the contract, i.e., we will endeavor to stay clear of the position that we owe you money.

It is further understood that we will liquidate progress payments in accordance with that letter addressed to you from W. D. Orr, dated June 13, 1958, and that the unliquidated progress payments will be controlled by the contractual Articles applicable thereto.

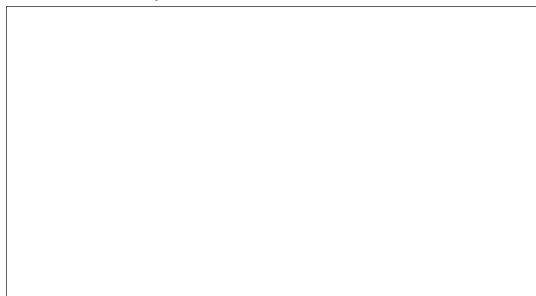

If you are in agreement with the foregoing, will you be kind enough to initiate an amendment to the contract to incorporate the above-mentioned billing price and to reduce the units to be delivered to 12 each.

Very truly yours,
